TWELVE guests entered the richly appointed dinner table at which General and Mrs. Harwood presided over on Monday of this week. White and green was the color scheme, quantities of white marguerites, combined with maiden hair and tulips, enhanced the beauty of the table. Those who enjoyed General and Mrs. Harwood's hospitality were Governor and Mrs. Walter Frear, Mrs. Samuel Dunning, Major and Mrs. Edward Thibault, Major and Mrs. Neville, Captain and Mrs. Arthur Maris and Mr. Ralph Forster, of the Embassy.

Mr. Bruce Cartwright, Jr.'s Dinner.

Monday evening, at the Hotel Pienan, Mr. Bruce Cartwright, Jr., gave one of the most elaborate dinners of the week. The color scheme for this handsome affair was in pink and green. A large silver bowl was filled with La France roses, four full silver-candle sticks, shaded by rose silk shades, were placed around this centerpiece, the base of the bowl was banded with maiden hair and snail, interspersed with roses. This latter green was carried in graceful strands over the damask cloth, and was dotted with roses. This function was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thomas of New York, who are completing an eight months' wedding trip around the world. The guests of honor were old friends of the host. On this occasion many beautiful costumes were worn. Mrs. Ralph Thomas looked a picture in Paris creation of red satin, veiled in chiffon of the same color, bordered in gold, superb diamonds and emeralds were worn. Her hair was parted in the middle and rolled on the side, a red feather lei was worn as a low band on her forehead. This New York society woman was particularly partial to the Hawaiian custom of wearing leis and always wore a lei of some kind. She is a tall, slender blonde and is very handsome, possessing a fascinating manner. Mrs. James Judd was handsome in a sage green chiffon, over white satin, with touches of gold. Mrs. Eric Knudsen looked extremely pretty in maize colored satin, with a gold and blue overcoat, the tulle was edged with white marion. Miss Claire Williams was stunning in a French gown of white satin brocade, draped with pale blue chiffon. Among Mr. Cartwright's guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Thomas, Doctor and Mrs. James Judd, Miss Claire Williams and Senator and Mrs. Eric Knudsen.

Mrs. Klebahn's Luncheon.

Mrs. Frederick Klebahn was hostess Tuesday at an orchid luncheon. The table was massed with these rare and costly flowers. Sprays of orchids served as luncheon favors for the guests. Among those present beside the hostess were Mrs. Samuel Allen, Mrs. E. Faxon Bishop, Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. McWayne, Mrs. Andrew Fuller, Mrs. C. Holloway, Miss McIntyre and others.

Prof. and Mrs. Griffiths' Dinner.

Professor and Mrs. Griffiths entertained at dinner Wednesday evening, in a delightful manner. Covers were laid for eight, the table was bedecked with fragrant flowers and maiden hair ferns. Among Professor and Mrs. Griffiths' guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Richard Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Jewett Lowrey and others.

Hitchcock Exhibition.

In spite of the rain there was quite a room full of people to view Mr. Hitchcock's pictures, Thursday evening at the Kilauea Art League. All were much impressed with the great improvement Mr. Hitchcock has made, and were struck with the truthfulness with which he has caught the spirit of Hawaii. The pictures are all so good it is difficult to make a selection, as each portrays a different mood of nature. The subjects of which there are several, attracted much attention. One can fairly hear the surf roar and pound, and feel the spray on his cheek. The surf-rider is the best figure painting, by far, that Mr. Hitchcock has ever done. The picture entitled "Dawn" shows Hawaii in another phase entirely, and is as good in its way as the others. It was a great pleasure to see a few of Mr. Hitchcock's California paintings again, as they show the versatility of the painter in being able to catch the spirit of the two places, Hawaii and California, so much alike, and yet so different. Miss Jessie Shaw added to the evening's pleasure by telling and illustrating a story in a most delightful, clever manner. Miss Shaw has recently returned from Columbia Teachers' College where she has been preparing herself to use her artistic talents in the school room. Mr. Hitchcock will give a talk next Friday evening at the League rooms on "The Basic Principles of Picture Building." Every one interested is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Klamp's Dinner.

Pale pink bigonias with accessories of tall silver candelabra, pink candles ornamented with rose colored silk shades ornamented the beautiful table of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Klamp's dinner table when they entertained Wednesday evening. On this occasion Mrs. Ahlborn and Miss Ahlborn, who have been spending a portion of the winter at the Moana Hotel were the complimentary guests. Those who enjoyed this enjoyable dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilder, Mrs. Ahlborn, wife of Captain Ahlborn, Mr. Humbert, Miss Ahlborn, Mr. Ralph Forster, the English Consul to Hawaii, Mr. Stack, Mr. Wyche and others.

Mr. and Mrs. Wall's Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wall entertained at dinner, Monday evening, in honor of their house guest Miss Davis.

The table was especially attractive and pretty. A fancy basket filled with ping was pegonias graced the center of the table. A dome lamp of tiffany glass, was suspended directly over this decoration; underneath the dome were innumerable electric light bulbs shaded by peach blow silk shades. Feathery asparagus vine was festooned over this dome and drooped in graceful sprays over the basket. Later in the evening a musical evening was enjoyed, a number of the guests were musical and contributed their share toward the evening's entertainment. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wall, Miss Davis, Miss Juliette Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wall, Judge Perry, Dr. Alfred Wall and Mr. Guilford Wilkey.

Miss McIntyre's Luncheon.

On Friday, Miss McIntyre, entertained a number of her friends at luncheon, which proved most enjoyable. The table was decorated in roses and maiden hair ferns, the place cards represented pretty little Japanese women in rickshaws. Among those present were: Miss McIntyre, Mrs. B. Allen, Miss Chapman, Miss Agnes Walker, Miss Kulamann Ward and others.

Mrs. Hocking's Bridge Party.

One of the most beautiful parties of the season, was given Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. A. Hocking at her home on Kewalo street. Prizes consisting of silver bon bon spoons, were awarded at each table. At the conclusion of the playing, each one of the guests was requested to cut for the consolation prize, the one cutting the lowest card, was pronounced the victor—this prize was an exquisite cloisonnaise vase and was won by Mrs. Jacoby, the house guest of Mrs. Mammie Phillips. Mesdames Frank Halstead, Philip Frear, Mammie Phillips, Mrs. Henry Cooper, Mrs. Sarah B. Newcomb and Mrs. Harold Giffard.

MRS. CHARLES BENNETT, Formerly Miss Genevieve Langton, of Honolulu.

possessed the highest scores and were awarded the bon bon spoons. The bridge-ers played in the drawing room, this handsome apartment was filled with palms and cream Alfred Carrier roses, tipped with pale pink. Refreshments were served in the dining room at two large tables, this room was literally filled with La France roses, rose bowls, containing these flowers were also placed on the tables and exhaled a delightful fragrance. Mrs. Hocking is an ideal entertainer—the the Hockings home is one of the most beautiful and artistic homes in Honolulu. During their extensive travels Mr. and Mrs. Hocking have collected rare art treasures, and this home is filled with beautiful Oriental rugs, brasses, tapestries, embroideries, that a connoisseur would revel in. Among those who enjoyed Mrs. Hocking's hospitality were Mrs. Neville, Mrs. Hobdy, Mrs. Frank Halstead, Mrs. Joseph P. Cooke, Mrs. Lackland, Mrs. Philip Frear, Miss Sayres, Mrs. Mammie Phillips, Mrs. E. E. Paxton, Mrs. John Waterman, Mrs. Arthur Maris, Mrs. Wallace Farrington, Mrs. Jacoby, Mrs. William Williamson, Mrs. Harold Giffard, Mrs. Haneberg, Mrs. Henry Cooper, Mrs. John Dyer, Mrs. W. W. North, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Sarah B. Newcomb, Mrs. Walter Wall, Miss Helen North, Miss Alice Cooper and others.

St. Patrick's Day Celebration.

Ireland's patron saint was duly honored on Friday, March seventeenth. The Ancient Order of Hibernians and other loyal Irish citizens joined in this celebration, so dear to the heart of an "emerald" islander. Church services were well attended in the morning and a program which was clever and full of wit, was well sustained by professionals and local talent. The Empire theatre was the scene of much merriment, for the world at large will always appreciate Irish songs and dances and the entertainment on Friday night was no exception to the reputation an Irishman has earned of being a most diverting entertainer.

Mrs. George Wallace of Hawaii, arrived in Honolulu last Saturday, on account of having received a wireless, that her mother was very ill and would have to undergo an operation at Miss Johnson's sanatorium. Great anxiety was experienced at the time, so it was deemed advisable to telegraph, as it was not known if Mrs. Robertson could stand this trying ordeal. The numerous friends of the Robertson family will be delighted to know that the operation was successful and the patient is convalescing. Mrs. George Wallace was Miss Lillian Robertson, a very popular and attractive young society girl, she was married several months ago to Mr. George Wallace. Mrs. Wallace has preferred to spend all of her time with her mother, and the rest of the family consequently has not accepted any social engagements. It is to be regretted that this young matron leaves for her home Tuesday.

Mr. Stetson, a prominent orange grower of Southern California is stopping at the Alexander Young Hotel. Mr. Stetson owns one of the largest groves in the Ojai Valley. His sister and brother were here last year staying at the Hotel Pienan, they were so charmed with Honolulu and gave such glowing accounts of the place, on their return to California, the result was that Mr. Stetson arrived here this year to witness the Elks' Carnival and Floral Parade. Mr. Stetson is a prominent and enthusiastic Elk. For Saturday and Sunday he is the guest of Mr. Thomas at Wahlawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Castle are being missed in the social whirl in Honolulu for the former has accepted a permanent position as manager of the Castle's large cotton plantation at He-

The House of Quality

J. Hopp & Co. LIMITED

This industry promises to be one of the largest and most lucrative in the islands. It is claimed that Hawaii not produce more of this product to the acre, than is produced in the southern states and that it is of a superior quality. Mrs. Harold Castle has invited a number of young girls to visit her. Miss Jessie Kennedy motored over Monday, returning Friday morning. Miss Beatrice Castle and Miss Vera Damon have also been their guests.

Mrs. Augustus Murphy has been confined to her home by an attack of La Grippe. Mrs. Murphy worked so hard for the success of the Mikado, that she was almost prostrated, and the doctor has ordered her to take a complete rest.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Douthitt have rented their pretty home at Kalaheo and are domiciled at the Seaside Hotel until they sail for the mainland, where the former is going on business and will visit Washington, D. C., and New York City.

Mrs. Tucker, wife of Professor Tucker, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Schmidt of this city.

Mrs. Bernice Walbridge is visiting friends on the windward side of the island.

Among the most popular young officers that has ever been stationed here is Lieutenant Kilgore of the U. S. Marine Corps. Lieutenant Kilgore has been ordered to Mare Island to report for duty and will leave next month on the transport Crook. This gallant officer has made many friends in Hawaii and they all regret his leaving.

A large contingent of army folk from Lohela were in town Tuesday, to meet friends on the transport.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Stewart of the Fifth Cavalry, will leave the 11th of April for a four months' leave. The former has been in poor health, it is hoped that the change of climate will benefit him. They will visit their old home in New York.

Mr. Wrehe, the fiancé of Miss Ahlborn, is a visitor in Honolulu and is charmed with the Hawaiian islands.
